

Group:

This is the story of an orphaned little fox, Vuk, whose parents and siblings were killed by hunters and their dogs. His uncle Karack raises him and teaches him how to survive in the forest. The conflict between the foxes and the hunters is full of humorous stories.

I work on:

11

It is often useful to record important information in graphic form. Make a nice diagram of Vuk's family tree, or of food chains!

Use different materials, work on paper or make a three-dimensional creation! Use the text of the novel and other books in the library.

12

The animals in the story must be able to navigate well. Make a map, imagine yourself in Wahur's place or help Vuk get out of the wheat field!

Use creative materials, objects in the room, the maze on sheet 12!

13

Do arts and crafts! Make masks, fold bookmarks, bring animals to life in pictures made of pressed leaves!

Use colour paper, recycled materials, textiles, glue, crayons!

Group:

This is the story of an orphaned little fox, Vuk, whose parents and siblings were killed by hunters and their dogs. His uncle Karack raises him and teaches him how to survive in the forest. The conflict between the foxes and the hunters is full of humorous stories.

I work on:

14

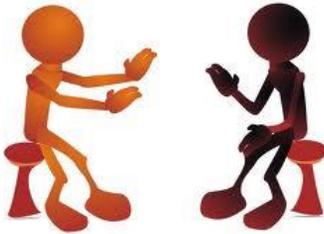

Help Vuk find his way through the different parts of the forest and the various animal tracks!

Use the FOREST or TRACKS matching cards! Make your own matching cards using the characters from the novel!

15

How to find a solution to a conflict? How to argue with people you respect? How can we express our feelings?

Use the situation cards!

16

What shelters do wild animals find? What are the most important accessories of a rural house? How were crops harvested in the past, and how today?

Draw, tinker, read up on the subject!

Group:

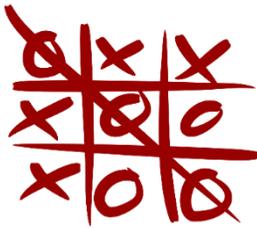

This is the story of an orphaned little fox, Vuk, whose parents and siblings were killed by hunters and their dogs. His uncle Karack raises him and teaches him how to survive in the forest. The conflict between the foxes and the hunters is full of humorous stories.

I work on:

17

Let's approach it playfully! Make a board game, then try it out!

Use cardboard, scissors, glue! Use bottlecaps for the game pieces, which you decorate individually. Paint the cardboard, use recycled materials for decoration!

18

Play with words and sentences!

Use the tasksheet!

