

DER ELEFANTEN-SULTAN UND DIE LAHME ROTBÄRTIGE AMEISE

SKLAVENAMEISEN, DIE DENKEN, SIE SEIEN ELEFANTEN

Die Ameisen

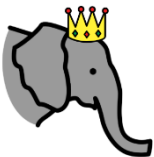

gestartet

bauen

den Palast.

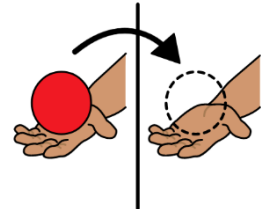

Der Elefanten-Sultan

besorgt war, weil

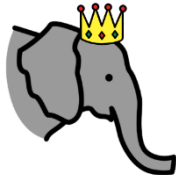

die Rotbrüstige Sandameise

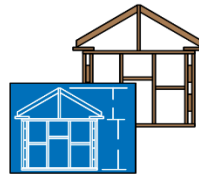

ist verschwunden.

Ulukepez

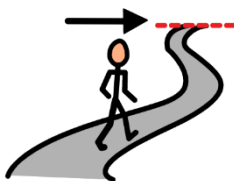

und der Elefanten-Sultan

Plan

gemacht worden sind.

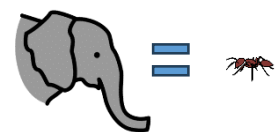

Endlich

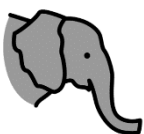

die Ameisen

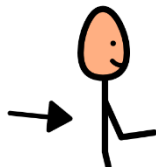

sie dachten

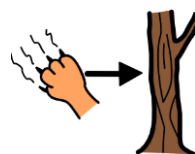

Elefanten.

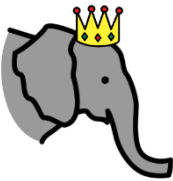

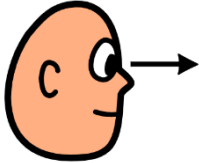

Wie ein Elefant

sogar ihren Rücken

an den Bäumen gerieben.

|                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  Die Ameisen                          |  Sie sprachen in         Elefantensprache. |  Elefant zur Schule |  gewesen sind. |
|  Sogar Trompete         spielen  |  gelernt haben.                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |
|  Der Elefanten-         Sultan |  unter der Aufsicht         von.         |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |
|                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |
|                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |