

ODYSSEUS AND THE CYCLOPS

The Master of the Winds

 Odysseus reunites with his companions who stayed on the previous island	 He tells them about their adventure with the Cyclops	 The next day, they set off again, heading towards Ithaca	 During their journey, they arrive on an island called Aeolia
 A floating island where Aeolus lives	 Aeolus is the ruler of the winds	 Aeolus welcomes them with his 12 children and his wife	 He receives them warmly
 In a grand palace	 They share many feasts	 After several months, they continue on their way to Ithaca	 Aeolus gives them one last gift to help them on their journey
 A wineskin that contained the violent winds	 He asks Odysseus to keep it a secret	 After warm farewells	 They resume their journey